ARTICLE III: PURPOSE

SECTION 1: GENERAL

- The Ocean Area Service Conference is a conference of elected trusted servants from the fellowship of Narcotics Anonymous, existing for the express purpose of communicating with one another on all matters pertaining to our common welfare (unity) and our common purpose (to carry the message to the addict who still suffers) in the spirit of strengthening (serving) our fellowship. We are here to respond to the needs and services of the member groups of the area as they arise, and to maintain the principles of the Twelve Traditions and Twelve Concepts in all our affairs. To be effectively helpful to the addict who still suffers, we must necessarily be governed by the groups we serve, and further impose certain standards (spiritual principles) on ourselves. We shall maintain effective liaison and cooperation with the New Jersey Regional Service Conference and keep all lines of communication open with the World Service Conference and World Service Office of Narcotics Anonymous.

ARTICLE IV: FUNCTION

 - Unless a quorum is reached, no decisions can be made on finances or policy matters except for budget items such as rent, other fixed expenses, prudent reserves, etc.
 - It is the responsibility of the chairperson of the conference to determine if quorum is present.

 - If a group is not represented by a voting participant at two consecutive conferences, an e-mail will be sent, and a phone call made to one of its trusted servants by the Chairperson of the conference, notifying the group that they are considered inactive.

ARTICLE IX: PARLIAMENTARY AUTHORITY

SECTION 1: GENERAL

- The OASC utilizes a short form version, entitled “OASC Rules of Order” of the latest edition of “Robert’s Rules of Order” (hereinafter referred to as Robert’s). See Appendix A.
- These OASC Rules of Order have been found to meet the general needs of conference in the process of conducting business of the actual session when such rules are not in conflict with the policies of the conference, “A GUIDE TO LOCAL SERVICES” (or subsequent service document) or the principles of NA.
- In the cases where the OASC Rules of Order are not comprehensive enough, the OASC utilizes the latest edition of Robert’s.
- The utilization of Robert’s is based on our need for rules of procedure in cases where we have not written our own rules of order. OASC Rules of Order take precedence over Robert’s.
- The intent of using rules of order is to provide an orderly way of conducting business, to protect each participant’s rights, and to protect the free exercise of debate. If we understand the principles and use the procedures appropriately, the use of parliamentary procedure will enhance not hinder the accomplishment of work at the OASC.
- The OASC Rules of Order clarifies common procedures used in the conducting of business of the conference or wherein the conference has elected to deviate from the procedures in Robert’s.

ARTICLE X: MOTIONS: THE PROCESS

SECTION 1: GENERAL

- Any participant of the OASC (voting and non-voting) may introduce motions and participate in debate and discussion. All motions introduced, except those by a group’s or committee’s conscience, at the OASC must be made and/or seconded by a GSR or the motion dies.
- Any member of Narcotics Anonymous may introduce a motion through the GSR that represents their group.
- All motions should be put in writing on the forms provided by the OASC secretary and must contain the name of the maker and the name of the second. Motions by a group’s or a committee’s conscience don’t need to be seconded. All motions shall include a written intent.
- The Chair will read the motions once before the ten-minute break in order to discuss the new business motions prior to voting on them.
- At the chair’s discretion, any motions that affect the policy of the conference can be tabled until the next regular session of the conference. The JAC will discuss the motion at its next meeting and report on their recommendations as to the ramifications and/or merits of such a policy change to the GSRs at that next regular session of the conference.
- The chair will present motions one at a time.
- When motions are presented to the OASC in conference, for consideration as new business, they are to be presented using the following priority order:

- Policy issues
 - Area financial
 - Group literature-financial
 - Other committee-financial
 - Other financial
 - Regional financial
 - Other business
- No participant may speak on a motion more than once unless others desiring to speak on the motion have exercised their opportunity to do so.
 - There shall be a time limit on debate by any participant. No participant may speak more than three (3) minutes on a motion for each time the chair recognizes them to speak. However, the chair may exercise discretion to extend the time when, in the chair's opinion, such action is warranted. To otherwise extend debate, a motion (Extend or Limit Debate) must be adopted.
 - There shall be a limit on debate as to the number of speakers on any motion. There shall be no more than three (3) participants to speak in favor (Pro) of any motion and no more than three (3) participants to speak in opposition (Con) to any motion. However, the chair may exercise discretion to extend the number of speakers when, in the chair's opinion, such action is warranted. To otherwise extend debate, a motion (Extend or Limit Debate) must be adopted.
 - In all matters committed to groups for conscience, only GSRs who have obtained a group conscience or a vote of confidence from their group may vote.
 - Only GSRs of member groups, or GSRA in the absence of the GSR, can vote at any OASC session.
 - All motions that affect OASC procedure or policy require a two-thirds (2/3) majority of voting participants present to be carried. All other motions require a simple majority (one more than half) except in elections where a clear majority is needed (one more than half of available voting participants).
 - Abstentions are a choice not to be present for the vote.
 - If the abstentions are greater than or equal to a majority vote, a motion to commit to the appropriate committee or to the groups for conscience may be entertained.
 - In the event of a tie, the Chairperson may cast the deciding vote, table, or entertain a motion to commit to the appropriate committee or to the groups for conscience.
 - An adopted motion takes effect at the close of the session unless otherwise stated in the motion.
 - Any motion on the floor may be committed to group conscience if two or more GSRs request it (no vote necessary).

SECTION 2: THE MAKING AND DISPOSING OF MOTIONS

- A motion is made (this is the beginning of bringing a matter before the conference)
 - Avoid wording a motion in the negative because of the possible confusion as to the effect of the motion.

- A motion should be clear, concise, and comprehensive so that the conference is not voting on the perceived intent but on the actual wording as it will be officially recorded.
- A motion is seconded (a second merely indicates that another member wishes the matter to come before the conference, it does not necessarily mean the individual seconding is in favor of the motion).
- The chair states the motion (this makes the motion pending and before the conference, it is only at this point that the motion belongs to the conference and must be disposed of in some manner).
- There is then debate (if the motion is debatable).
 - The motion should be debated without questioning the maker's intent. Motives should never be questioned.
 - Participants should address each other through the chair and should use titles or descriptions of duties, not names (for example, 'OASC Policy Chairperson'). The chair addresses members by name. Discussion is not generally between two participants but through the chair.
- When ready, the conference votes to adopt (carry) or reject (fail) the motion (This is also known as, "the chair puts the question").
 - In cases where there seems to be little or no opposition in routine business, adoption of a motion or action without a motion can be by unanimous consent. The chair calls for any objections. If there are none, the matter/action is adopted. In the case of an amendment to a pending motion, this is known as a "friendly amendment." It must be friendly to the entire conference, not just the maker.
 - There are no fractions of votes.
 - A majority vote (simple majority) is one (1) more than one-half (1/2).
 - A two-thirds vote (2/3 majority) means at least two-thirds (2/3) of the present voting participants.
 - The determination of a vote (simple or 2/3) will be based upon participants present and voting. Abstentions are a choice not to be present for the vote.
 - A clear majority is one (1) more than one-half (1/2) of the available voting participants (used for elections).
 - The chair announces the result of the vote, and its adoption or rejection.

ARTICLE XI: ELECTED OFFICERS AND COMMITTEE CHAIRPERSONS

SECTION 1: GENERAL

- The officers of the conference are a Chairperson, a Vice-Chairperson, a Secretary, a Treasurer, and a Regional Committee Member, or their Alternate.

- OASC officers and committee chairs should be elected at a regularly scheduled session of the OASC, immediately following the vacancy of an OASC officer or chairperson position.
- It is the responsibility of the Vice-Chairperson to announce any such vacancies or upcoming elections at the OASC session at least one month prior to the election.
- The officers and committee chairpersons are elected by the approved election procedure of the OASC.
- Chairperson and the Vice-Chairpersons terms are one year or remaining portion of set term (January to December).
- The Regional Committee Member (RCM) and Regional Committee Member Alternate (RCMA) elections are held in June to stay concurrent with the World Service Conference meeting.
- In lieu of vacancy, six months or more constitutes a full term served.
- Secretary, Treasurer, and Committee Chairpersons terms are one (1) year beginning at the next regularly scheduled session of the conference immediately following their election.
- No officer or Chairperson shall hold more than one office at a time.
- Upon election to an officer or committee Chairperson position, the NA member should resign from any other OASC position as soon as practical.
- Each subcommittee Chairperson will present their subcommittee's policy and/or policy change to the body at OASC in the form of a motion to be voted on by the body.
- The following Chairpersons may also be a GSR at the same time: H&I, PR, Literature Review, Website, Activities, Meeting List, Hosting and Convention.

SECTION 2: ELIGIBILITY

- Any member of Narcotics Anonymous is eligible for election to any OASC office, position, or committee chair; it is suggested that NA members with applicable service experience fill these positions.
- Members seeking OASC service positions should live within the geographical boundaries of the area.
- All officers having completed two (2) full terms are ineligible for that office for the following two (2) terms.

ARTICLE XII: ELECTION PROCEDURE

SECTION 1: SELECTION OF CANDIDATES

- The Vice-Chairperson will read the "Qualifications and General Responsibilities" of the office or service position to be filled.
- The floor is opened to nominations of persons meeting the requirements as stated, and who have the willingness to serve.

- Nominations need not be seconded but any number of seconds may be voiced.
- The floor is then opened to volunteers meeting the requirements as stated, and who have the willingness to serve.
 - A voting participant must second all volunteers.
- All candidates must qualify. (Verbally state qualifications for the office or position).
 - Questions from the floor may be directed to individual candidates at the discretion of the Chairperson.
- In the event of the absence of qualified candidates or the failure of a candidate to receive a clear majority of total available voting participants following the completion of the run-off, the floor is then open to a subsidiary motion to waive requirements.
 - If the motion fails, the floor is then opened to a motion to table the election.
 - If a motion to waive the requirements is passed, the floor will then be opened to nominations only (procedures D and D-a of the selection process apply).
- A motion to close nominations is now in order only when there is no opposition and opportunities have been given for nominations from the floor.
 - Motion to close nominations must have a unanimous vote.
 - All candidates shall leave the conference during discussion and vote.
- Discussion of candidate's qualifications is now in order at the discretion of the Chairperson.

SECTION 2: ELECTION VOTING PROCEDURE

- The Chairperson determines a clear majority (one more than half of the available voting participants).
- Each active member group shall have one (1) vote per position under consideration.
- The Chairperson shall ask for a show of hands in favor of each candidate in the order that they became eligible.
- The secretary will temporarily record the tally of votes for each candidate.
- Any eligible candidate accumulating a clear majority of the available voting participants shall assume the position of the trusted servant being considered.
- If no one candidate receives a clear majority, the candidate with the least number of votes is eliminated from the election proceedings and the voting procedure is repeated.
 - This run-off will continue until a candidate receives a clear majority or until there is only one (1) candidate left in the voting proceedings. If this candidate does not receive a clear majority the floor is then opened to a subsidiary motion described in Section 1-E of the "Election Procedure."
- In the event of a tie, all candidates not involved in the tie will be eliminated from the voting proceedings and a single re-vote will be called for.
- In the event of a tie after re-vote the Chairperson may cast the deciding vote or table the election.

APPENDIX A: OASC RULES OF ORDER

SECTION 1: GENERAL

- On the following pages, you'll find a simple set of rules of order. They have been adapted from Robert's Rules of Order, Newly Revised, which in turn are based on the Rules of the US House of Representatives. These OASC rules differ in some details from Robert's Rules; to cover such differences, OASC has made a blanket decision to accept these rules as authoritative.
- Such differences include:
 - OASC limits debate to three (3) minutes per speaker. (Robert's = ten minutes).
 - OASC limits the number of speakers on each pending motion to three (3) pros and three (3) cons. (Robert's = unlimited).
 - OASC limits debate on the motion to appeal to one (1) pro and one (1) con with the chair always the con. (Robert's = unlimited).
 - OASC does not limit the number of times a participant can speak on a motion, except that no participant can speak more than once unless all others wanting to speak have already spoken. (Robert's = a participant can only speak twice on a motion and cannot speak for the second time until all others have exercised their right to debate).

SECTION 2: DECORUM STATEMENT

- Sessions will be conducted according to these rules of order, adapted from Robert's Rules of Order. This time-honored system for conducting business is the clearest way yet devised for getting a maximum amount of business done in a minimum amount of time, regardless of the degree of disagreement among the participants.
- These rules are meant to be used as tools to help us make orderly collective decisions in a cooperative, respectful way in the spirit of our Twelve Traditions and Twelve Concepts; please do not use them as weapons against one another. We encourage all participants to become familiar with these rules of order and conduct themselves accordingly.
- Once the session is under way, only one matter will be before the committee at any one time and no other discussion is in order. Please respect the Chairperson's right to be in control of the process of this session so that you can have maximum benefit of its content.

SECTION 3: DEBATE: LIMITS

- Debate is the formal exchange of views on an idea. Unless otherwise specified, debate on both main motions and parliamentary motions is usually limited to three pros and three cons (speakers for and against the motion). Speakers addressing a motion in debate usually have three minutes in which to speak their minds.

SECTION 4: MOTIONS

- There are two basic types of motions. It is important to understand the difference between them. The two kinds of motions are main motions and parliamentary motions.

- Main Motions

- A motion is a statement of an idea a conference participant wants the conference to put such-and-such to be done by (this conference, one of its committees, or a particular individual) under these terms. The person making the motion then speaks briefly about why he or she feels the idea is important; this is called speaking to the intent of a motion. Because the exact wording of all motions must be recorded in the minutes, the maker of the motion should write it out whenever possible. This is especially important for long or complicated motion.
- Every motion requires a second - the backing of another person who either wants the idea put into practice or simply wants to see further discussion of the idea take place. After one person makes a motion, the Chairperson will ask whether the motion has a second. The individual making the second simply raises a hand and, when recognized by the chair, says, "I second that." If no one seconds a motion, the chair will say, "The motion dies for lack of a second." This means that the idea will not be discussed any further because there is not enough interest in it. The conference then moves on to other business.
- Once a motion has been made, the Chairperson may rule it out of order. A motion may be ruled out of order for any number of reasons: the motion goes against the conference's standing policy, it clearly contradicts one of the Twelve Traditions or Twelve Concepts for NA Service, or is inappropriate at the particular point in the session at which it is made. Robert's Rules of Order can be consulted for more specific examples of motions that are out of order at any given time.
- Any participant of the conference who wishes to challenge a ruling made by the Chairperson may appeal that ruling, as described below. If no appeal is made, or if the decision of the chair is upheld, the conference moves on to other business.

- Parliamentary Motions

- Parliamentary motions can be best understood as "sub-motions" made during debate on a main motion that affects that motion in some way. There are many more of these than space and practicality permit us to include here, but a few that seem to be the most practical are discussed below.
 - Motion to AMEND.
 - SIMPLE majority required.
 - IS DEBATABLE.
 - This is perhaps the most commonly used parliamentary motion. During debate on a motion, if a participant feels that the motion would benefit from a change in its language, that participant can say, "I move to amend the motion..." and suggest specific language changes in the motion. Ordinarily, an amendment must be moved and seconded before it can be debated. When debate on the amendment is exhausted, the body votes on the amendment. Then, debate resumes on the merits of the main motion (as amended, if the amendment has carried). When debate is exhausted on the merits of the main motion itself, a vote is taken, and the body moves on to the next item of business.

- If an amendment is offered and the Chairperson feels there is little or no opposition, they can ask the conference to accept the amendment. If the conference accepts it then no second is required, no debate is called for, and no vote needs be taken on this amendment; debate proceeds as if the main motion had been formally amended. This is called making a friendly amendment.
- Motion to call the PREVIOUS QUESTION.
 - TWO-THIRD'S majority required
 - IS NOT DEBATABLE.
 - For our purposes, this may be the most important parliamentary motion. Use it often. This motion is made by a participant saying, "I call for the question," or "I move the previous question". It is another way of saying, "I move that debate stop right now and that we vote immediately". This is one of many motions that can be used to prevent needless, lengthy debate once an issue is clearly understood. This motion is in order after any speaker is finished. You need not be called on. The chair must recognize you when you make this motion, and a vote must be taken with no debate. If two-thirds of the body feels that no more debates are necessary, then it is time to vote and move on.
 - One point worth making about this motion is that you must be careful not to squelch debate before an issue has been thoroughly aired. Be sure to vote "no" to this motion if you are still confused about the issue at hand or are unsure of how to vote. By allowing debate to continue, we avoid half-baked decisions about half-understood questions. On the other hand, the liberal use of this motion makes it unnecessary for the chair to be heavy-handed in stopping discussion, because the chair knows you will stop it soon enough.

- Motion to TABLE.
 - SIMPLE majority required.
 - IS NOT DEBATABLE.
 - One way of disposing of a motion that is not ready for a vote is to table it. This is done by saying, “I move we table this motion until such-and-such a date/session”. This motion is not debatable, if it is made and seconded, it is voted on immediately. If it fails, debate continues on the motion itself. If it passes, the conference moves on to its next item of business. The tabled motion will be included in the conference agenda on the date specified.
- Motion to REMOVE FROM THE TABLE.
 - SIMPLE majority required.
 - IS NOT DEBATABLE.
 - A motion that has been tabled can be taken up before the time originally set in the motion to table. This is done by saying, “I move to remove from the table the motion to such-and-such”. If this motion passes, the motion that had been tabled becomes the main motion and debate on it begins again. If the motion to remove from the table fails, the body moves on to the next item of business.
- Motion to REFER.
 - SIMPLE majority required.
 - IS DEBATABLE.
 - Sometimes the conference does not have enough information to make an immediate decision on a main motion. Such motions can be removed from debate and sent to either a standing committee or an ad hoc committee for further study. This can be done by a participant saying, “move to refer the motion to the such-and-such committee”. If the motion to refer is seconded, the body may debate it before voting. If the motion to refer passes, the conference moves on to its next item of business. If the motion to refer does not pass the conference either continues debating the main motion or votes on it. The committee to which a motion is referred will take it up at its next meeting. The committee will report back on what it has come up with at the next meeting of the full conference.
- Motions to RECONSIDER or RESCIND.

- MAJORITY required varies.
- IS DEBATABLE.
 - Sometimes a participant feels that a motion the conference has passed will prove harmful. That participant can move to either reconsider (reopen for debate and voting) or rescind (void the effect of the original motion). There are a few conditions on motions to reconsider or rescind:
 - The motion must have been passed in either the last months or the current session.
 - The participant making the motion must have information on the issue that was not available in the original debate on the motion.
 - The participant must have been with the winning side in the original vote.
 - These limits are placed to protect the conference from having to reconsider repeatedly the motions it passes while still allowing it to examine potentially harmful situations it has created inadvertently. If any of these requirements are not met, the Chairperson will declare the motion out of order. The motion to reconsider requires a simple majority. The motion to rescind requires a simple majority, provided that conference participants were informed prior to the session that such a motion would be made. If prior notice is not given, the motion to rescind requires a two-thirds majority.
- Request to WITHDRAW A MOTION.
 - UNANIMOUS CONSENT required.
 - IS NOT DEBATABLE.
 - Once a motion is made and the debate begins, the maker of the motion may ask to withdraw it. The chair asks if there are any objections. If there is even one objection, the motion stays on the floor and debate resumes. If there are no objections, the motion is withdrawn, and the body moves on.
- Offering a SUBSTITUTE MOTION.
 - SIMPLE majority required.
 - IS DEBATABLE.
 - A substitute motion is the same thing as an amendment to a main motion. The only difference is that it is offered to entirely replace the original idea, instead of merely revising a portion of it. It is handled in the same way an amendment is handled.

- Motion to ADJOURN.
 - SIMPLE majority required.
 - IS NOT DEBATABLE.
 - Any voting participant may move to adjourn at any time. This motion is always in order, is not debatable, and requires a simple majority to pass. Obviously frivolous motions to adjourn may be ruled out of order. After all business is finished, the chair may declare the session adjourned without a motion.

SECTION 5: OTHER PROCEDURES

- In addition to parliamentary motions, there are other ways in which participants may alter or clarify the proceedings. Here are a few of the most common:
 - Order of the day
 - If a conference participant feels that business is going too far astray from the original agenda, that participant can help get things back on track. The participant says, "I call for the order of the day". This means, "I move that the chair bring us back on track and conduct the session according to procedure, adhering to the agenda..." This does not require a second, is not debatable, and does not even require a vote. The Chairperson is obligated to enforce the request unless two-thirds of the body tells the chair otherwise.
 - Point of information
 - If a conference participant needs certain information before making a decision about a motion at hand, that participant can say at any time to the Chairperson, "Point of Information". This means, "I have a question to ask", not "I have information to offer." One does not need a second to raise a point of information, it is neither debatable nor to be voted upon. The person raising the point of information may ask the question of either the Chairperson or another participant of the body.
 - Point of order
 - If it appears to a conference participant that something is happening in violation of the rules of order, and if the Chairperson has not yet done anything about it, the participant can ask the Chairperson for clarification of the rules at any time. The participant may simply say out loud, "Point of order". The Chairperson then says, "What is your point of order?" The participant then states the question and asks the Chairperson for clarification. If the chair agrees that the rules are not being followed, the chair says, “Your point is well taken” and restates the appropriate rule. If the chair does not agree, the chair says, “Overruled.” This decision, as all others, can be appealed.

- Point of appeal
 - Any time the chair makes a decision, that decision may be appealed. Any voting participant who wishes to appeal a decision may do so by saying, “I appeal the decision of the chair.” If the appeal is seconded, the chair then asks, “On what grounds do you appeal my decision?” The participant states the reasons. The Chairperson then speaks briefly to the intent of the ruling being appealed. The body may then debate the ruling and the merits of the appeal. A vote is taken, requiring a simple majority to overrule the original decision of the chair.
- Parliamentary inquiry
 - If a conference participant wants to do something but doesn’t know how it fits in with the rules of order, all that participant has to do is ask. At any time, a participant may simply say out loud, “Point of parliamentary inquiry”. The Chairperson must immediately recognize the participant so that person may ask how to do such-and-such. The chair will answer the question, possibly by referring to a specific passage in this document in explanation. A point of parliamentary inquiry needs no second, is not debatable, and is not voted upon.
- Point of personal privilege
 - If the smoke is getting too heavy for you, the air conditioner or heater is on too high, or if there is too much noise in the room, you can ask that something be done about it. If the matter is urgent, you may interrupt the proceedings by saying, “Point of personal privilege;” if the matter is not particularly urgent, you are encouraged to wait until the person speaking has finished. Such a request generally requires no second, and the chair must recognize you immediately. State the situation and ask that it be corrected. If your request seems reasonable, the chair will accommodate you.

SECTION 6: VOTING PROCEDURES

- There are several ways that votes can be taken. The most commonly used method is the show of hands. With rare exceptions, votes will be taken by a request from the chair to see the hands of all in favor, then all opposed, then all abstaining on each issue. The chair should ask for all three categories every time, just to be thorough, even when the majority is overwhelming. If the Chairperson senses that the vote will be unanimous they can ask the conference if there are any objections to expedite the process. If no objections are voiced the motion passes unanimously.
